1. A Cominform conference reportedly took place in Sofia at the same time as the Bulgarian Communist Party Congress in mid-December 1948. Delegates from all Cominform states were present, and also British and Trieste Communists. The Soviet Union was represented by Judin, former Soviet Ambassador to Yugoslavia, and General Sidor Artemovic Kovpak, Balkan specialist.
2. The main topic of discussion was Cominform relations toward Tito, whose elimination was agreed upon. The following moves were planned:
 - a. Increased economic blockade by the Eastern states.
 - b. Intensified political pressure by means of anti-Tito propaganda within Yugoslavia itself through broadcasts from Sofia, Tirana, Bucharest and Budapest, et cetera, and through leaflets dropped from planes.
 - c. Military preparations along Yugoslav borders.
3. Satellite anti-Tito broadcasts increased considerably after the conference. The stations at Tirana, Sofia, Bucharest and Budapest broadcast attacks against Tito daily in Serbo-Croat. It is reported that Cominform agents have already started to distribute leaflets dropped from planes. All border troops surrounding Yugoslavia have reportedly been strengthened.
4. After the conference Kovpak went to Albania; he is reported to be still there.
5. Albania is playing a major part in this offensive against Tito, and General Kovpak is directing these Albanian activities.
6. Tito is alert to the situation. In order to strengthen his position he has in the last two weeks dismissed several not altogether reliable ministers in the central government and in the individual republics, and has made various changes in the military command posts.
